

Open positions | Graduate students

I am currently looking for excellent M.Sc and PhD students interested in either computational, theoretical, or experimental studies in the fields of multiphase flows, turbulent reacting flows, and particle-wave interactions. If you are a graduate student interested in joining our group, please send a note describing your background and research interests: yuvalda@technion.ac.il.